PURE BRED HOGS.

Offer Great Opportunity to Farmers of Kentucky.

The Frankfort State Journal in commenting on McKee Bros.'s splendid hog sale, calls attention to facts which it would profit Madison county farmers to ponder on. The Journal says:

"The average of $107.50 each for hogs

The Agricultural Department is trying to show Kentucky farmers that there is little or no profit in raising 'razor backs' and feeding them corn straight, but plenty of profit in raising pedigreed, or at least pure blooded hogs and feeding

"There are not a great many good breeding plants producing hogs of the right blood for Kentucky farms. It is always more satisfactory to buy at home and when you have examined the animals than to buy them 'sight unseen. It is expensive to travel far to buy good stock. There is room in Kentucky for more breeding plants for blooded animals than are in existence. They should be well distributed. Of course the Mc-Kee Bros. do not depend on the home market, but attract buyers from many States. Nevertheless there is money in blooded stock even for less well adver tised plants where the right stock is pro-

The Man Who Made "Cabiria" to Be in Lexington This Week.

PASTRONE

"The world," it is said, "knows nothing of its greatest men." It is astonishingly to note how infrequently the men who really do things-the actual workers -court publicity. The motion tableaux of D'Annunzio which is being presented at the Ben Ali Theatre in Lexington, commencing Monday, August 31, supplies a case in point.

Literally, this production is the talk of the world. A tribute to, and a manifestation of Italian genius, the actual worker, or director, of the colossal spectacle, does not figure by name in the program, and so far, has escaped nention in the papers. It is Pastrone.

Pastrone is the constructive partner of the Itala Company. He it is, who for en years has been quietly making Itala pictures until his labors culminated in the masterly "Cabiria."

Taking in hand D'Annunzio's story, Pastrone staged the spectacle as probably no other man in existence could have

"There is only one director in the world,"said Carlo Sciamengo, Pastrone's business partner. He meant Pastrone "Cabiria" attests Sciamengo's handsome tribute to his associete. It is no exaggeration to say that motion picture makers in all parts of the world, regard Pastrone as their chief. What his salary is n United States money would be hard Pastrone is one of the men who does not court publicity; on the contrary, he depreciates it. Still, the desire of the world to know something of the people You Can Get Them At The who serve it, is a reasonable one. And everybody just now is saying: "Cabiria" is a wonderful production-who made made a good paper of the Record and it?" The answer is, Pastrone, the unknown craftsman of Torino. He is suspected of a design to go one better than "Cabiria." Reserved seats at all performances.

Billions Earned Yearly by The Hens of the U.S.

Professional farmers are not the only ones who share in the gains from 'keeping chickens.'

Over $300,000,000 is a very tidy sum for the nimble hen to add to the income of the people of the United States, yet it is a fact that this huge figure is at tained by the revenue from eggs and poultry sold in this country in a single ear. It means more than 16,000,000-,300,000 dozen-enough to give every man, woman and child more than 13 dozen eggs each a year.

It is a profitable business, not only for the farmers, but also for city folks with little spare land in which to carry it on. Many a family is keeping the table supplied with fresh eggs-strictly fresh, and no doubt about it-and with toothsome chicken all the year round.

There is no need to go away from nome to begin egg raising. Many a successful chicken grower has begun on a small plot in the rear of his home. A quarter of an acre gives ample room to go about it in a systematic way, or even less ground can be started on.

A Philadelphia man and his wife recently got an acre of ground on the edge of town, began experimenting with chickens and vegetables and before long were clearing over $100 a year, and the man was doing his regular work all the time in the city.

The greatest egg raiser in the United States is said to be John M. Foster and his farm is called the "Million Egg Farm." because he produces that number of eggs per year. Foster was a young city man. He was dissatisfied with his life; wanted to get out of doors more, so got a small farm near town. He dearned everything he could about the busi ness and now in a year he clears close to $20,000 from his farm. Not many people want to go into it so extensively, but Foster's experience shows what city people can do. Any city worker who wants to get into the business and who hasn't the ground needed, can usually pick up a piece of land on the outskirts of the city, where values are low, and get it at such a price that the revenue from the poultry will pay for the land in a short time. More and more families are taking ad vantage of them every year and embarking in the healthful, profitable business of poultry raising and vegetable farming on a small scale.

When Germany declared war on Russia there was the greatest activity in the English army. It is plain that with a general war on the continent it would be impossible for England to keep out of it. It was figured that the English infantry would give a good account of itself.

The new Way ~ A Hoosier Cabinet makes a Model Kitchen

Why Do 700,000 Women Own Hoosier Cabinets?

When you know that 700,000 women use Hoosier Kitchen Cabinets three times every day, doesn't it suggest to you that you need this drudgery-saver in YOUR kitchen?

Figure it out to yourself this way: Would they have bought these cabinets without convincing themselves that they SAVE MILES OF STEPS and hours of time? Would so many have bought them at all if users hadn't told others and thus influenced their friends to buy them.

Since this means that more Hoosier Cabinets have been sold than all other 128 makes of cabinets combined, isn't it proof enough that the Hoosier is the best cabinet on the market?

When you see how the Hoosier groups four cupboards around a large metal table and places 400 articles at your fingers' ends so you can sit down and work -AND REST while working-you'll want one of these "White Beauties." Come pick one out today.

Hurrah for Rouse! May his example be emulated, especially by Congressman Helm, till every Republican in the Eighth district is made to walk the plank to give place to those who have bourne the labor and heat of the day without a smell of the fleshpots till now. Turn the rascals out.

The leader of a band of kidnappers in New York has been sentenced to fifty years in prison. As he is forty, he will hardly live to serve the full sentence. It is a pity the law does not provide the death penalty for the crime of stealing children and holding them for ransom or murder them if the fiend fails to secure it. Many a mother has been driven to the insane asylum by it and fathers have given their all to have their loved ones returned to them.

Among the many horrible things for which the European war is responsible is that the ladies will not be able to get the Parisian fashions and will have to endure the styles they have until the cruel war is over. But it is an anomalous state of affairs that this country should rely on Europe for anything, especially the fashions, which could be started here better than anywhere else.

The anxiety of Americans to get out of the war zone and breathe the air of freedom in their native land again, is shown in the fact that when the Baltic arrived in the New York port the other at Red House day it was found that 700 were stored away in the hold, some of them men rich enough almost to buy a ship. It was known that a great many Americans go abroad, but until the war broke out, greatness of the number was scarcely imagined. Many go on business, but the larger number because it is fashionable and sounds big.

The local option fight is warming up in Lexington and has now reached the street orator stage. Both sides are bringing their best speakers to the front and halls and churches resound with their alleged eloquence. Marshall, Mr. Elden Baker and Miss Fairy L. Chasteen, both of the Terrill the price of wheat to be higher. There never were better prospects for wheat bringing high prices next year and the farmers should grasp the opportunity and put in every acre of wheat they possibly can. This country must supply the foodstuffs. We all regret that war is in progress, but if they must fight, Mr. Farm. er, you should get your share of the profit. Sow wheat as it isin great demand by the warring nations. Now is the time to prepare your soil. Below we print an article on late sowing of wheat to com bat Hessian fly as sent out by the U. S. Department of Agriculture August 26.

LATE SOWING OF WINTER WHEAT TO

COMBAT HESSIAN FLY. The seeding of winter wheat should be delayed as much as possible to combat Hessian fly whenever this pest is present. Throughout the Eastern United States, where winter wheat is generally grown, this fly sometimes causes damage amounting to over a million dollars in one year. Present indications are that the damage done by the pest this year will be considerable. Co operative late-sowing by all the wheat growers in the community, accompanied by systematic destruction of stubble and other breeding places of the fly, seems to be the best means to reduce its devastation Wheat should, however, be sown early enough to allow the plants to become well established before winter sets in. yet not so early as to allow them to become jointed. If the first frost is unusually delayed the wheat grower would better plant, even though there is still danger of injury from the fly, for otherwise his losses may be greater from the failure of young, poorly-rooted plants to survive the winter. The best time for sowing winter wheat s about the first week in September in the latitude of northern Ohio. In the latitude of southern Ohio, the last week of September is the best. Proceeding still farther south the best date is still later, being about the middle of October for Tennesse and central Oklahoma, and about the first of November for northern Georgia. In such districts as the Piedmont section of Virginia allowance must be made for elevation. In the northern part of this State the middle of September seems the best date for sowing, while in the southern part, the last week in September is preferable. The general rule for seeding is that there should be a difference of one day for each 10 miles of difference in latitude, and seeding should be approximately one day earlier for each hundred feet of increase in elevation. There is usually, however, a period of several weeks in all the winter-wheat area where sowing may take place with about equal results. This period is longer as one proceeds to the southward.

RATE OF SEEDING. The quantity of seed that should be sown under ordinary conditions in the humid winter-wheat areas is 6 pecks per acre. This may be varied according to the size kernel of the variety used, the condition of the seed bed, the fertility and character of the soil, and the date of seeding. When the grains are small. the seed bed in good condition, the soil, rich, warm, and well drained, and the seeding early, 5 or even 4 pecks per acre are often sufficient. Where opposite con ditions exist, 7, 8 or even 10 pecks may give more profitable results. It is advisable to adhere to these rules with all varieties, regardless of any claims of exceptional tillering ability that may be

Other details of a general character egarding "The Culture of Winter Wheat in the Eastern United States" are given in a bulletin of the department bearing that title (No. 596). It can be had free by wheat growers on application to the department at Washington, D. C.

RIGHT TO VOTE

Should Be Given Time to Exercise Franchise.

LITTLE TROUBLE FOR THem

NE objection made to woman suffrage is that women will not have time to vote. Miss Alice Buck, representing the anti-suffragists and speaking as a working woman before a congressional committee in Washington, December, 1913, said, "We do not want the vote principally because we feel that we have quite enough to occupy our time now, regardless of politics." Joseph G. Pyle in a leaflet read before the same congressional hearing explained that for the farmer's wife "voting is a hardship too great to be endured. Aside from the preliminary preparations, she must go to the polls, often in inclement weather. walking or riding several miles to get there;" but, above all, it is the wife and mother living at home, whose domestic duties are supposed to leave her no time to vote. The view that voting takes a very great deal of time seems to be a general one among the anti-suffragists. But men who vote assert that the actual time spent in a polling booth, even at the most crowded election, does not exceed half an hour and is usually not more than ten minutes.

Elections Infrequent.

Elections are not daily or even frequent occurrences, as these objections to women voting would seem to suggest. In some places the municipal, county, state and federal elections are all held on the general election daythe first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. In other places the local elections are held in the spring. There are at times special elections, as, for instance, the recent one of April 7 here in New York state to determine whether or not there should be a constitutional convention. Such special elections are rare and seem to arouse little interest. There are also, since the passage of the law providing for direct nominations, primary elections, at which the enrolled members of each political party ought to vote. But when every kind of election is taken into account the most conscientious citizen is not called to the polls more than two or three times a year and the actual time spent in voting does not exceed at the most liberal allowance an hour or two

All men of course do not vote. In the presidential election of 1912 the total number of those voting was less than 15,000,000 while the number eligible to vote was over 24,000,000. The proportion of men voting at this election was somewhat smaller than at or work can be an excuse for this failure of the duty of citizenship, as in thirty-nine states election day is a legal holiday, on which no business is

A Large Class.

Working women now form a very large class in this country. It is esti mated that there are about 8,000,000 or 9.000,000 of them. They would have. of course, the same facilities for voting as are given to workingmen. Factories, shops and business offices are closed on election days.

The farmer's wife has grown up as a country girl in the open air. In her youth she probably walked each day to school and back and each Sunday to church. She will not be daunted by a which will bring her in return such great interests.

Rich women with servants to relieve them of household work and nurses or governesses to take charge of their children have time for whatever takes their fancies. It is, of course, particularly the wife and mother in the home who, it is believed, will have no time to vote. Men count eight hours as a day's work, but her mysterious duties are supposed to keep her per manently a prisoner within her four walls. If it is indeed true that such women are so hard driven, day after day, that they cannot even make any arrangement to leave their work for an hour or two a year, should not such a condition be changed?

Large Property Holders.

It would be unendurable to think that the conditions of society bear so heavily upon women that they cannot leave their duties even for the few minutes necessary for voting and that their lives, in spite of easy means of communication and cheap daily papers. are so cut off from all communal interests that they have no chance for forming political opinions.

Building Up The Community

The dollars spent with the home merchant are the dollars that help to build up the community. Nobody ever heard of a mail order house in a distant city making a contribution for the improvement of this town. The merchant in the city pays nothing towards the support of the school in which our children are educated nor for the surpport of the churches in which our people worship. In fact, the dollar sent to the merchant iu the big city is gone forever, so far as any good to your community is concerned. Is it fair to deprive the home merchant of your cash trade and thus deprive the community of the benefits to be derived from keeping this money at home? Civic pride is a virtue to which that citizen can not rightfully lay claim who makes a practice of sending away from home for his purchases just for the sake of saving a few pennies on each. Let's all band together in an effort to build up the community by patronizing the home merchants.
